The Howling Of The Lonesome Wolf Blue Sky

words and music by Michael Seibt

C The silver sun is sinking / earlier this day
C F G G

The white clouds in the sky / are fading into gray
F F

A couple of kids passing by C C

is fearfully looking to the sky
G F C C

When the wolf is howling about noon
G F C C

When the wolf is howling about noon
An old dog is searching / for a place to hide

An old dog is searching / for a place to hide And a Siamese cat / is hiding by its side The birds stop singing in the trees The water stands still in the creek |: When the wolf is howling about noon :|

The blood / is freezing in the veins
And the broker / is loosing all his gains
The clock stops ticking for a while the waitress sends you a scornful smile
|: When the wolf is howling about noon :|

A cool breeze from the hills / is making your flesh creep
And your wounded soul / is beginning to weep
She's fixing you with ice-cold eyes
Leaving you on your own device
|: When the wolf is howling about noon :|

Am C

The howling of the lonesome wolf it is a broken-hearted sound

D
Em

That sends its echo all over the town â€"

Am
C

The howling of the lonesome wolf is full of suffer, full of pain

D H7

And it's burnt forever in our brains

C
D
E