

The Howling Of The Lonesome Wolf
Blue Sky

words and music by Michael Seibt

D G D
The silver sun is sinking / earlier this day
D G A A
The white clouds in the sky / are fading into gray
G G
A couple of kids passing by
D D
is fearfully looking to the sky
A G D D
When the wolf is howling about noon
A G D D
When the wolf is howling about noon

An old dog is searching / for a place to hide
And a Siamese cat / is hiding by its side
The birds stop singing in the trees
The water stands still in the creek
|: When the wolf is howling about noon :|

The blood / is freezing in the veins
And the broker / is losing all his gains
The clock stops ticking for a while the waitress sends you a scornful smile
|: When the wolf is howling about noon :|

A cool breeze from the hills / is making your flesh creep
And your wounded soul / is beginning to weep
She's fixing you with ice-cold eyes
Leaving you on your own device
|: When the wolf is howling about noon :|

Bm D
The howling of the lonesome wolf it is a broken-hearted sound
E F#m
That sends its echo all over the town " "
Bm D
The howling of the lonesome wolf is full of suffer, full of pain
E H7
And it's burnt forever in our brains
D E F#
|: It's a mantra that forever will remain :|
