Bob Mould - The Descent

Nice and simple song, not 100% sure if correct, just a rough draft - you can use powerchords only as well, maybe mix it up a little...

Intro:

B G#m E (4x)

Verse:

Ebm E
I started out so starry-eyed
B G#m E (2x)
Full of hope and wonder
Ebm E
And I wore flowers in my hair
B G#m E (2x)
Not aware I d been defiled

Bridge:

F# E F# E
(Every time I see you) I know it s going down
F# E F# E
(How can I believe you?) Karma comes around

Chorus:

B C#m E
I know this ride, you must be there by my side
B C#m E
You going down, I must be descending

(play Intro and Verse like before)

I didn t want to play the song
That gave people so much hope
I turned my back and turned away
Here s the rope that made me choke

(Every time I see you) I know it s going down
(How can I believe you?) Karma comes around

E B C#m (repeat)
You can see it in my eyes

You can read it on my face
You can hear it as I cry
God, I hope it s not too late
Can I try to make it up to you somehow?
Can I try to make it up to you somehow?

Solo-Part:

G#m F# C#m E (2x)

E B C#m

You can see it in my eyes

E

You can read it on my face

B

C#m

You can hear it as I cry

B

God, I hope it s not too late

C#m

B

Can I try to make it up to you somehow?

C#m

B

G#m (F#)

E

Can I try to make it up to you somehow?

C#m

Now my race is finally run

E

And as I tumble to the sun

C#m

All these dreams I can t achieve

B G#m

(F#) E

Brought me crashing to my knees

My descent has now begun

All the music left undone

My world, it is descending

(play E B C#m B G#m (F#) E until the end, end on E)
