```
Perfect
Bombadil
[Intro]
[Verse 1]
 What would be the color of our first house?
                                                             F
 Would we have two bedrooms if we can t work it out?
 Will the kitchen be yellow with a window?
                                                          C
 Will the porch have hard pine that never grows old?
[Chorus 1]
 Don t be afraid
 Of the the work to do
                                C
 And I would kiss you
 And you would like that
      С
 And you said
 And you said
 You said everything was perfect
[Verse 2]
                                                       F
 Where would be the garden of our first house?
                                                       F
 Would we have a door to let the dogs out?
          Am
 Will we have a fireplace with a red rug?
                                                         C
 Will we have a bookcase for the books we love?
[Chorus 1]
        C
 Don t be afraid
 Of the the work to do
```

```
G
            C
 And I would kiss you
              C
                             C
 And you would like that
 And you said
 And you said
 You said everything was perfect
[Bridge]
                   F
You said everyhing was and we went back and then we saw them
                         Αm
 And you said there was no problem
                                  C
 We couldn t fix
[Verse 3]
                                                  F
 What would be the name of our first kid?
 I know you like Ema Jean but I can t stand it
 Would she need to be beautiful in all she does?
                                                  C
 Will he suceed in love and the French language
[Chorus 2]
G C
                         C
 Don t be afraid
           C
 Of the the work to do
                  C
 And I would wisper to you
       C G
                                C
 And you would like that
                G C
You said everthying was
 And you said
 And you said
 You said everything was perfect
