CAPO 1

D E A (x2) E

Yeah

F#m E D A
In the womb of winter, summer seems a myth
D A E
In my desperation I throw my faith into the wind
F#m E D A
Born to a world where it is a fight just to fit in
D A E
From the cradle to the grave, it never ends

D A E A
Someday, someday in a cloud of gray
D A E A
I will, I ll make my great escape

F#m E D A
So many ways to walk upon the earth
D A E
I trace my footsteps to the place of my birth
F#m E D A
So what do you do with all your precious time
D A E
So many ways in which to reach for the sky

D A E A
Someday, someday in a cloud of gray
D A E A
I will, I ll make my great escape
D A E A
Someday, someday in a cloud of gray
D A E A
I will, I ll make my great escape

F#m D A E

F#m D A E

Say, little bit by little bit, someday

D E
I may be weary but I am not weak

A F#m
I can sing a song of suffering

D A E
Maybe a song unsung is dancing on the tip of your tongue

D E
My salvation s ahead of me

A F#m
I can feel it calling me

D A E
I know that I, I know that I will be ready

D A E A
Someday, someday in a cloud of gray

D A E A
I will, I ll make my great escape

D A E A
Someday, someday in a cloud of gray

D A E A
I will, I ll make my great escape
