(verse)

At first the settings broke

Now the machinery stops

And the country s all sectioned off
Like a honeycomb
Oh cells and foam
Like separated bones
Have you been waiting for long?

(chorus) D E A

Oh in between the morning and the evening light Is how the days go by
And in between the evening and the morning light Oh don t the stars look nice
In between the evening and the morning light Is how the days go by
And in between the evening and the morning light Oh don t the stars look nice

And oh, oh oh
Oh ain t it going well?
And oh, oh oh
But it s so hard to tell

It s like everything you never said But always meant to say It s like everything you never did And did it anyway

But in between the morning and the evening light It s how the days go by
In between the evening and the morning light
Oh don t the stars look nice
