Thereâ€™s a street where I live, thereâ€™s a road I took every day
D9 G D9
Down the lane is a shop where I would stop to read the magazines.
G C
Thereâ€™s a house the front porch the old tree that I cut down long ago.
A D7 G D9
These are my old haunts but Iâ€™m not haunted any more.

G C
Thereâ€™s a place where we met with our friends for a meal on a Friday night.
D9 G D9
It used to be Italian then now itâ€™s something else again I do not know.
G C
How itâ€™s changed up and down donâ€™t you know now itâ€™s just the same.
A D7 G D9
These are my old haunts but Iâ€™m not haunted any more.

Thereâ€™s a place I paid my dues I little confused about my voice for the first time.

Hesitation blues became the thunder of a rolling train straight out of here.
G C
All the time on that track I knew one day I would be back here again.
