

Fake
Busted

hiya ppl! i m conor and im 9 years old. you probably dont believe me but its true!

This is a pretty easy song and i love playing it! Enjoy it!

Conor

F5 C5 Bb5                                      F5                      G5                      Bb5
i cant believe what my girlfriend did today
F5 C5                                      Bb5                                      F5 G5                      Bb5
she screamed so loudly and then she walked away

BRIDGE 1: Bm                      G                                      Bm
                    why did she cut me down to size
Bm                                      G
                    she left me wonderin can i do it right?

CHORUS: D                                      A                                      Em                      G
                    what am i gonna do now the games up cant getter off
D                                      A                                      G
thats kinda rough she better not tell my mates 2day
D                                      A                                      Em                      G
                    do i need to measure coz im feelin under preasure
D                                      A                                      G
im just hopin that the fear will go away
