Refrain by Cady Groves off the EP, A Month of Sundays

Tuning: Standard

I love this song! I was messing around and realized I was actually playing part of this song, so I attempted to finish tabbing it. Comment/rate. Corrections welcome! :)

E A
Please refrain cause I can't take your
C# Bm E
your constructive criticism anymore
A
what the hell have you been building anyways?
C# Bm
Between you and me, just a barricade,
A Bm A C#
I gotta say Whoa-oh

E
I can do so much better than this
C#
I know, I know
A Bm
I took the easy road again
E
And as for selling myself short
C#
I have become notorious
A C# Bm A C# Bm
Oh----- I know how it goes

E C#
This is the part where I realize that I'm alone
E C#
Alone

E
You always told me to be mature
A C# Bm

Well I just don t know myself anymore

E

What s the point of being grown up anyways?

A

So I can be like you?

C# Bm A Bm

And give it all away?

I got to say

E

I can do so much better than this

C#

I know, I know

A Bm

I took the easy road again

E

And as for selling myself short

C#

I have become notorious

A C# Bm A C# Bm

Oh----- I know how it goes

E

C#

This is the part where I realize that I m alone

E C#

Alone

E

And everybody wants to fall in love

A

in cinematic fashion

C# Bm A

I don t, I don t

E

And everybody wants to fall in love

A

in cinematic fashion

C# Bm A

I don t, I don t

Bm E
