                                                                                                                    Gm
When you re standing at the crossroads
                                         Dm
And don t know which path to choose
Let me come along
   Cause even if you re wrong
                                                        C
                                                                                                                Am
I ll stand by you, I ll stand by you
                                                                           Gm
I won t let nobody hurt you
I ll stand by you
                                                                                      Αm
Take me in into your darkest hour
                                                           Gm
And I ll never desert you
I ll stand by you
