Bye, Bye Bye, Bye
       Ebm
 Yeah they took turns laying a rose down
 Threw a handful of dirt into the deep ground
He s not the only one who had a secret to hide
Bye bye, bye bye, bye Bye
Yeah yeah
G#
                                                           Ebm
                                                                 C# B
 It was the first and the last time they saw each other face to face
G#
                                       Ebm
They shared a crimson smile and just walked away
And left the secret at the grave
          Ebm
 And the preacher said he was a good man
 And his brother said he was a good friend
                                                          G#
 But the women in the two black veils didn t bother to cry
 Bye, Bye Bye, Bye
 Yeah they took turns laying a rose down
 Threw a handful of dirt into the deep ground
 C#
                                             G#
 He s not the only one who had a secret to hide
                        Ebm
Bye bye, bye bye, bye Bye
                    Ebm
 Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah
```
