

Twelve Gauge

Casey Donahew Band

This is a really good song. I personally love it. It also teaches a valuable life lesson... Don't abuse your wife!

Okay so the chord charts will come up different up here is how I play this song with the G's and C's

G -3-	C -3-	You can play them the standard way if you want, but I think these chords sound better and they're faster
-3-	-3-
-0-	-0-
-0-	-2-
-2-	-3-
-3-	-X-

G	C
There's a twelve gauge shotgun lyin' on the floor
G	D
And she's not sure that he's breathin' anymore
G	C
Now she's sittin' on the corner of her bed in her room
G	D
Sirens blarin' they'll be there soon
G	C
And now she's cryin' with her head in her hands
D	G
Talkin' so fast that they don't understand
G	C
Said he hit her that morning, he hit her that night
D	G
But all she remembers was a flashin' light

Chorus:

G	C
But he's never gonna hit her again
G	D
He's never gonna hit her again
G	C
You can be real sure of a one thing friend
D	G
He'll never ever hit her again

(Solo)

Well he caught her with a quick right cross
And didn't know the line he'd crossed
Now there's blood in her hair and blood on her clothes
Blood still runnin' from her nose

Well she went and found a box of shells
Gonna send him straight to hell
There were tears on her face when her eyes turned black
Never knew a twelve gauge could kick like that

Chorus

There's a twelve gauge shotgun lyin' on the floor
And she's not sure that he's breathin' anymore
Well they put her in the cop car took her downtown
All of the neighbors standing around

And now she's cryin' with her head in her hands
Talkin' so fast that they don't understand
Said he hit her that morning, he hit her that night
But all she remembers was a flashin' light

Chorus

Outro

Enjoy, please rate and coment