

Thorns

Charlie Simpson

Saw him play at Wedgewood Rooms on 04.07.11 and he opened with this! Even got to meet him afterwards, genuinely lovely guy!

Not sure if this is entirely correct but it sounds okay, especially if you just pick the chords.. have fun!

	G	D/F#	Em7	Cadd9
e	-3----	2-----	3-----	3-----
B	-3----	3-----	3-----	3-----
G	-0----	2-----	0-----	0-----
D	-0----	0-----	0-----	2-----
A	-2----	0-----	2-----	3-----
E	-3----	2-----	x-----	x-----

[Intro]

G, D/F# [x2]

G

I get dressed up in my winter clothes

D/F#

And step outside to look at the roses

Em7

Cadd9

But they re all covered in the morning snow

G

Just open your heart

D/F#

Em7

And the world will carry you home tonight

Cadd9

It will

G, D/F#, Em7, Cadd9 [x2]

I get dressed up in my summer clothes

And step outside to look at the roses

But they re all covered in their sharper thorns

Just open your eyes

And the world will follow you home tonight

It will

[Chorus]

G

D/F# Cadd9

Let s put on our rain coats

G

And drench ourselves in England s weather

Em7

Just to know we re free

D/F#

Cadd9 G

We ll bury our heads down beneath the old oak tree

Just you and me

G D/F#

But please

Cadd9

G

Oh, don t take this broken heart of mine

Em7

It s the only beat that I have left

D/F#

And it s pulsing through this empty chest

Cadd9

G

Even I don t know where I should begin

G, D/F#, Em7, Cadd9 [x2]

I get dressed up in my autumn clothes

And step out side to pick up the leaves in

I cannot believe the whole year has gone

I open my arms to embrace you

It s time to go right back to the start

[Chorus]

Let s put on our rain coats

And drench ourselves in England s weather

Just to know we re free

We ll bury our heads down beneath the old oak tree

Just you and me

But please

Oh, don t take this broken heart of mine

It s the only beat that I have left

And it s pulsing through this empty chest

Even I don t know where I should begin