

God Damn Your Fingers
Choir of Young Believers

I ve tried to make it sound as similar as possible, but I think mine sounds a little cheerier than the original. I tend to slap this on capo 2, but I think the original sounds like it s without the capo.

Em                    G                    C
Love came and took you by surprise
                         A7                    C
One Sunday morning, no one s seen you since.
Em                    G                    C
You left your car there by the side road
                         A7                    C
Now it s all covered with leaves.
Em                    Em7                    G
We go to places just to find out
                         A7                    C
If we re in the right place or not.
Em                    G                    C
God damn your fingers, touch my fingers,
                         A7                    C
And I think, passed out on the couch.

G                    Am                    F
Your brother still lives here;
Dm                    Am                    G
I see him now and then.
                         Am                    F
We don t see you though;
Am                    Em                    G
I don t know when we ll stop.

Em                    Em7                    G
Wind keeps blowin , it s a storm
                         A7                    C
Oh to be in the middle of this.
Em                    Em7                    G
Oh what s the cure for bad decisions,
                         A7                    C
And the things that conclude with it?

G                    Am                    F
Well I still pass your house;
Dm                    Am                    G

No one's livin' there.

Am F

It's on my way to work;

Am Em G

Memories come back.

Am Dm C

And I have loved you.

Em Em7

When are you coming back?

G A7

Are you coming back?

C

I hope you're coming back...

Em G C

Love came and took you by surprise

A7 C

One Sunday morning, no one's seen you since...
