

Through The Window

Chris Cornell

G

The clouds that gathered turned to rain

G

The candles on your sill burned out

Am

The weather on your face

Em                    C                    G

Turned to match the mood outside

G

Reading through poems that you saved

G

That make the gloomy hours make sense

Am

Or do they lose their power

Em                    C                    G

With the yellowing of age

C

I saw you suffering

G

Through a foggy window in the

D

Rain

Em

When you thought no one was watching, yeah

C

Going through your memories

G    D

Like so many prisons to escape

Em

And become someone else

Am

With another face

C

And another name

G

No more suffering

G

You sold the best of yourself out

G

On a chain of grey and white lies

Am

One syllable at a time

Em    C

You should have made them pay

G

A higher price

C

I saw you suffering

G

Through the cracked and dirty

D

Window pane,

I was ashamed that i was

Em

Watching, yeah

C

Going through your imagination

G

Looking for a life you could

D

Create

Em

And become somebody else, yeah

Am

With another face

C

With another name

D

No more suffering

Am

C

I wish that i could find a seed

C

G

And plant a tree that grows so high

G

So that i could climb

And harvest the ripe stars

Am

For you and i to drink

C

And spit the ashes from our mouths

Em

And put the grey back in the clouds

And send them packing with our bags

D

Of old regrets and sorrows

cause they don t do a thing but drag us down

So far down

G

The past is like a braided rope

G

Each moment tightly coiled inside

C

I saw you suffering

G

Through the yellow window of a

D

train

D

Em

With everybody watching, yeah

C

Too tired for imagining

G

That you could ever love somebody

D

else

D

Em

From somewhere far away

Am

From another time

C

From another place

Am

With another life

Em

And another face

D

And another name

D

And another name

G

No more suffering
