

People Of The World
Chris de Burgh

Hey Guys, I didn't find any tablatures for this song, so I figured out the chords

:) It's my first tab so please correct me ;)

Verse 1:

C                      F                      G                      C
Let there be light where there was darkness,
                         F                      G                      Am
Let there be love where there was hate,
                         E                      Am
Even in the terrors of the night,
                         F                      G                      C
Sooner or later, comes the day

Verse 2: (same chords)

Let there be joy where there was sorrow,
Let there be hope where there was none,
And even as your life-blood flowed away,
Neda, your heart is living on

Chorus 1:

C                      F                      C
People of the world stand up for freedom,
Am                                      F                      G
Voices call from a distant shore,
Am                                      Em                      F                      C
For the winds of change are blowing stronger,
                         Dm                      G
And Evil men will fall,
                         Dm                      G                      C
For freedom will not wait anymore;

Verse 3: (same Chords)

Let there be Spring where there was Winter,
Let there be green where there was grey,
Even as the Lion seems to sleep,
Sooner or later, he will wake;

Chorus 1

Chorus 2: (same Chords)

Women of the world have died for freedom,

Hear them call from a distant shore,
For the winds of change are blowing stronger,
And Evil men must fall,
For freedom will not wait here anymore;

(Capo originally moves up to 7th)

Chorus 1 (2x)

First time : stand up for freedom

Second time : have died for freedom

C      F      C

People of the world!
