Openers: Ok there really isn t alot of guitar work in this song except for the last little piece which any guitarist worth their instrument could improvise so I won t even bother trying to write all of it out. Really we don t even play the ending solo except when we feel like going off into our own little world;) So let us see what we can get into shall we?

Standard Tuning Blues

Round & Round

As Preformed By:

Chris Isaak & The Silvertones

Riff 1:

|-----| This riff right here is the whole song. This is the intro., the verses, and what seems
|-----| to be the chrous. Of course there are a few bits thrown in here and there to make the
|-----| song sound fuller which I will include below. The use of a dive bar on the bend really
|-----7--| helps this piece out! Also please crank your distortion on this song.
|-----5--|
|--0b-----|

Riff 2:

```

|-----|-----| This piece is played after
a verse usually!
|--1h3-1h3-1h3-1h3-----|--1h3-1h3-1h3-1h3--0--|
|-----3p1p0h1--|-----|
|-----|-----|
|-----|-----|
|-----|-----|

So Basically the song goes a lil something like this!

Intro:

```

|-----|
|-----|
|-----|
|--7----7--| Riff 1,
|--5----5--|
|-----|

```

Verse 1:

                                Riff 1                                Riff 1
Here we go round & round          State your case and then sit down.
                                Riff 1                                Riff 2          Riff 1
Tell me why you want to go,      I don t love you anymore.

```

Verse 2:

                                Riff 1                                Riff 1
Here you go mad again            Tell me that your just a friend.
                                Riff 1
                                Riff 2
Tell me something I don t know    I don t love you anymore I don t love you any more, yeah.

```

Chrous:

```

Fm                D
When I do go, I ll let you know.
Fm
It might hurt you, but I don t think so.

Follow the patterns above and you should start to feel the swing of it. Can you dig it?

I knew that you could!
