Link -- Collective Soul from the album Disciplined Breakdown

|This is my first attempt at actually writing down my version of a song |so it may not be exact but it should be enough to get you started.

Tuning is down 1/2 step

This part is played over the verses and behind the solo. You ll have to listen to the song The to get the feel but it s pretty easy.

                   (You can do pretty much anything here that sounds good to you as far as a solo goes, sounds to me like Ross played both guitars in the solo on the album, listen to that to get an idea of what to do.)
Chorus
F
      And with my anger well diffused
