G Bm
He circled and stared Em C
nervous and scared
G D
he knew both the thrill and the cost
G Bm
but he didn t think twice
Em C
this amazing device
Am D
was his last chance to see what he'd lost
C D
now if time is really a river
G C
and upstream's where he needed to be
G C
he set his sights on the past
G Bm Em
and finished his glass
D C G
and went back in history

C D
To the casual eye it s a barstool
G Bm C
but it s really much more than it seems
G C a few drinks and then
G Em
she ll be with him again
D C G
as he sits on the time machine

Bm Em C

G Bm
Like all pioneers
Em C
he swallowed his fears
G

and watched the whole room

D

fade to black

G Bm

he s dying to go

Em C

but he s no fool, he knows

Am D

how hard it will be to come back

C D

but tonight he s tired of the lonely

G C

and tomorrow will not be the cure

G C

so he ll just slip away

G Bm Em

find yesterday

D C G

and spend one more night with her

C Bm

Now as far as the customers can tell

D G

he s just one more fool who talks to himself

> C Bm

but every man in this place would line up

Em D

if they knew what that seat really was

C D

But to the casual eye it s a barstool

G Bm C

but it s really much more than it seems

G C

just a few drinks and then

G Em

she ll be with him again

D C G

as he sits on the time machine

G C

Just a few drinks and then

G Em

she ll be with him again

D C G

as he sits on the time machine
