

You Can Hide Your Love Forever
Comet Gain

F                Bb                Gm
He has a picture of her underneath the poster
F                                Bb        Gm
So he knows that she, she is there, even though she is not
F                Bb                Gm
And the tapes were a way to her heart
F                                Bb                                Gm
Shes something he can hold on to, something good and hopeful.

Gm                        Bb                F
I ll never get to kiss her fingers
              Gm                        Bb                F
I ll never get to hold her coat
              Gm                        Bb                F
I ll never get to turn the light off
              Gm                        Bb                C or sleep with her or even

And she makes up friends in literature
She lived in France and Scotland
And she paints herself
A picture of what he d look like now
Her cigarettes, her cold, cold hands, and a short dark hair
And she still loves you, don t you know?
No, you never did know.

She thinks it would be better
To see him through his letters
The music that he makes her
She knows its all about her.

And you
You can hide you love forever
You can hide, you can hide, you can hide your love forever
You can hide, you can hide, you can hide your love forever
You can hide, you can hide, you can hide your love forever

I think that it is better
To say oh how i loved her
Something good and strong
You can hold on forever

And one more time in the night
I could remember your face
One more time in the night
I could remember your face

And you

You can hide, you can hide your love forever,

You can hide, you can hide, you can hide your love forever,

You can hide, you can hide, you can hide your love forever
