>walking down the street at night he is wondering where she is >but she knows that what he says is only what he feels inside >when the maze dissolves and her mirror breaks
>
>always the right stuff for his shoes >the reality crushes the siege of night
>when you hold me i know where you are >you can t feel the fire in my heart now and then >quenched not yet now take the time to prep and wait
>
>never thinking what you d do now >i can t see the light in your soul
>but can we persevere through the things set before? >can we but save ourselves and leave another far behind >we can still answer these questions >before the time for reckoning comes
>here we go again with no problems >yet another obstacle overcome
>now we stand in the glow of our dream >standing here we can see some eternal point
