VERSE 1:
      Bm
The cold, cold harbor I went swimming in
G
Elegant, so elegant
            D
It d not be so bad to be buried beneath
                A
The warmth of your leather jacket

            Bm
Are you a pelican a penguin
      G
Or a partridge in a tree?
            D
Do you adhere to the absolute
Or preach possibility?

CHORUS:
            G
Give me a pill to pop
I need a pharmacist
          D
I need a surgeon for my mind
              G
There s all these images and video footage
          D   A
Stuck in rapid, rapid rewind

        Bm
Wasn t it these streets
Wasn t it this church
    G
We walked past in the rain
          D
Why are these police looking so hurt

```
                A
Are they afraid of a parade?

        Bm
Oh my forehead pressed in the pillowcase
    G
My ears are full of bells
            D
Is that an elephant in the old staircase?
            A
Are those sirens wishing me well?

Give me a pill to pop
I need a pharmacist
        D
I need a surgeon for my mind
            G

BRIDGE:
            Bm
I heard a whispered cure; steam from a lava bed
        G
With the sea boiling all around
            D
Beneath a piano bench full of written words
        A
In a junkyard I had found

            Bm
There was a music box a dancer on top
        G
And I wound it up so tight
            D
That the spring snapped and her head fell off
        A
In a kaleidoscope of light

VERSE 3:
                Bm
When they come in, they ll come in guns blazing

Isn t that what they always say they ll do?
        D
I awake tired and I m always strangling
```

```
My heart obsidian for you

            Bm
There is darkness round my neck
                G
My heart is brass and melting quick
              D
I need the forgiveness of the ignorant
                A
But there s no simple cure or answer for it

CHORUS:
              G
Give me a pill to pop
