

Afternoons Amp Coffeespoons
Crash Test Dummies

Please excuse errors in the lyrics. I have this on second-generation cassette, so unfortunately I have to guess what is being sung.

[Intro] D G D G Asus4 A

[Verse 1]

D A D G G A
What is it that makes me just a little bit queasy
D A D G G A
There s a breeze that makes my breathing not so easy
F Bb C
I ve had my lungs checked out with X-rays
F Bb C Dm Bbsus2**
I ve smelled the hospital hallways

(**Sorry. Not really sure if this is what you call this chord. Basically play a Bb, but play the C note on the second string, not the D note.)

[SHORT CHORUS]

D G D A
Someday I ll have a disappearing hairline
D G D A G A
Someday I ll wear pajamas in the daytime

[Verse 2]

D A D G G A
Times when the day seems like a play by Sartre
D A D G G A
When it seems a book burnings in perfect order
F Bb C
I gave the doctor my description
F Bb C Dm Bbsus2
I ve tried to stick to my prescription

[LONG CHORUS]

D G D A
Someday I ll have a disappearing hairline
D G D A
Someday I ll wear pajamas in the daytime
G D
Oh, oh, oh, oh (or something to that effect)
A D G
Afternoons will be measured out
Bm G
Measured out and measured with
A D G G A
Coffeespoons and T.S. Eliot

[Bridge]

Maybe if I could do a play-by-playback
I could change the test results that I would get back
I ve watched a summer evening pass by
I ve heard the rattle in my bronchi

[LONG CHORUS]

D            G                    D                                    A
Someday I ll have            a disappearing hairline
D            G                    D                                    A
Someday I ll wear            pajamas in the daytime
G            D
Oh, oh, oh, oh                                    (or something to that effect)
A    D                                    G
Afternoons will be measured out
Bm                                    G
Measured out and measured with
