Vers 1:

```

Hm            Hm
I let a lie come true

Hm            A
I even cared enough to lie
          Em                      G
Recieve what I transmit
          D                      G
And slowly close you eyes
Hm                      A                      Em
  Yeah, to unlock our locked up love
                                  G
And set it free
                                  D                      G
You need a complicated key
                                  D                      G

Almost on my mind
