All I Am

by dada From the album "American Highway Flower"

Transcribed by Jeff Matson (jdm7@cornell.edu)

as far as i can tell, this song is based almost exclusively around a simple riff and a nice, easy picking pattern for the chorus. because i m feeling really lazy, i m only going to provide these two parts, and let you folks out there figure out what goes where in the song. if you have the album, it s really easy to do anyway.

Verse Chords

the key to this part is to alternate a Bm with a plain ol second-fret barre (222222) and then end with a G (355433)

Bm Bm (222222) Bm Bm (222222) Bm Bm (222222) G G

Chorus Picking

okay, now that you ve mastered that part, here is my rough idea of the picking that goes on in the chorus.

[tab]e -----0-----0-----0-----0-----|
B ---3----3----3----3----3----3----3----3----3----|
G -----2-----2--0---0-----0--1---1-----1--0---0-----0-----|
D -0-----|

in some repetitions of the chorus picking this part is omitted and a G chord is struck, usually to lead back into the verse chords.[/tab]

As far as I can tell, the really fast parts are the same as the verse chords, only faster and chopier.

if anyone feels like cleaning up or adding to this, please feel free.
