Everything Trying - Damien Jurado

So the other version of this song found on UG is great! I tabbed this version from a video released recently of Damien playing the song in the woods! Different capo position and a slightly different chord arrangement. I like this version!

There are two variations of the Bm that he plays during the song, and after playing it myself it makes sense. Finger placement for the previous and following chords make it easier to make transitions. Also there is a hammer on the D throughout.
