C                    G                    F
You d think in an information age it wouldn t be so hard
Just to know what you re feeling, but the moment passes on
And the nights are colder now that it s daylight savings time
And when I said I love you, I was wrong

Am            G                    F
Cause you and me, our eyes will never meet again

Am G                    F
We re not the same, guess we never were

Am                    G            F
And all the things we knew, even I love you

Am G                    F
Are not the same, they re just nostalgia

C                    G                    F
Computers crashing, all around us business fails
The times are hard--or so they say
But I don t believe the Times, and I don t believe the Globe
It s spinning free enough to choose your way to go

Am            G                    F
But you and me, our eyes will never meet again

Am G                    F
We re not the same, guess we never were

Am                    G            F
And all the things we knew, even I love you

Am G                    F
Are not the same, they re just nostalgia
