Danger Mouse

Collaboration between Danger Mouse and Daniele Luppi http://romealbum.com/

The album cut of this song is sharp, about A=450, while the single version is flat, about A=436. So, no matter which version you re listening to, it will sound slightly out of tune if you re at A=440 (but the album will sound much more out of tune). If you re like me, and don t realize there are two slightly different tunings because you re streaming the song from a website, this will drive you insane.
