

Bright Flashes

Danielle Ate the Sandwich

D - Bm - D - Bm

There were bright flashes the day you were born

D - Bm - Em - A

And your mother s hair was brown.

D - Bm - D - Bm

All of the doctors pronounced you a dead man

D - Bm - Em - A

And they told her what to prepare for.

D - Bm - D - Bm

Somewhere far from you at the center of earth

D - Bm - Em - A

The science that made you awoke.

D - Bm -D - Bm - D - Bm - A

And it said oooo.

D - Bm - D - Bm

The gods in the sky draped in cloth made of clover

D - Bm - Em - A

Amused by the cliffs of your plights

D - Bm - D - Bm

Sent down a goddess with hair black as night.

D - Bm - Em - A

She gave you a piece of her power.

D - Bm - D - Bm

And once you were young and gasping for air

D - Bm - Em - A

And now you are strong as a mountain.

G - A - D - F# - G - A - D

And all things considered it s quite coincidence I am still here and so are you.

D - Bm - D - Bm

The floor of the Earth may decide to upturn us,

D - Bm - A

The skies might be ready to strike.

D - Bm - D - Bm

And you might decide, overwhelmed with surprise

D - Bm - A

That there might be something on earth worth saving.

D - Bm -D - Bm - D - Bm - A

Let it be me.

D - Bm - D - Bm

Oxygen sometimes can lead you off course

D - Bm - Em - E

and breathing is something to die for,

G - A - D - F# - G - A - D

but all things considered it s quite coincidence I am still here and so are you.
