Border Radio Dave Alvin

BORDER RADIO
Dave Alvin - C# (Capo 1)

C F

It's one more midnight, and her man is still gone

The night moves too slow

C C/B Am

She tries to remember, the heat of his touch

F G C F C F

While listenin' to the border radio

C

She calls toll-free, and requests an old song Something they used to know She prays to herself, that wherever he is $\text{He\^{a}} \in \mathbb{R}^m$ s listenin\^a $\in \mathbb{R}^m$ to the border radio

Chorus

F

This song comes from 1962

Αm

Dedicated to a man who's gone

50,000 watts out of Mexico

G C G C

This is the border radio, this is the border radio

Last Chorus play Am here

She thinks of her son, as leep in his room And how her man wonâ \in [™]t see him grow She thinks of her life, and she hopes for a change While listeninâ \in [™] to the border radio

Break / Repeat Chorus

And they play her tune, but she canâ \in [™]t concentrate She wonders why he had to go Itâ \in [™]s one more midnight, and her man is still gone And sheâ \in [™]s listeninâ \in [™] to the border radio

Repeat Chorus

F G C F C F G C

This is the border radio
