

Weeds In The Wheat

David Bazan

A bit tricky to get the timing down and sing, but sounds awesome on a slightly overdriven guitar, or an acoustic.

Play it in Barre chords it is easier and sounds better.

I tried to give direction as to what fret to play barre at that sounds best to me, experiment and let me know.

Go see him live... will make a fan out of a critic..

David Bazan

Weeds in the Wheat-live at the Grey Eagle

G G7 F
God bless the man who stumbles
G G7 F
God bless the man who falls
C(at 8) C7 F G G7 F
God bless the man who yields to temptation

God bless the woman who suffers
God bless the woman who weeps
God bless the children trying her patience

Bb(at 6) G# F#
Trouble getting over it is what you're in for
 G#
So pour yourself another
Bb(at6) G# Eb(bar at 11) C# (bar at 9)
'Cause it'll take a steady pair of hands

Holy or unholy ghost
Well now I can't tell
But either way you cut it
You should get some distance if you plan
To take a stand

G G7 F
God bless the house divided
G G7 F
God bless the weed in the wheat
C C7 F G G7 Bm(bar at 2)
God bless the lamp lit under a bushel

C(bar at8) A Dm G
I discovered hell to be the poison in the well
 Cm(at3) F G7 G

So I tried to warn the others of the curse

C(bar at 8) A

But then my body turned on me

Dm G Cm F

I dreamt that for eternity my family would burn

Bb D(bar at 10)

Then I awoke, with a wicked thirst

Verse Chords with woah woahs

Bb G# F#

By my baby's yellow bed I kissed her forehead

G#

And rubbed her little tummy

Bb G# Eb

And wondered if she'll soon despise the smell

C#

Of the booze on my breath, like her mom

Bb G# F# G#

Through a darkened mirror I have seen my own reflection

Bb G#

And it makes me want to be a better man

Eb C#

After another drink

God bless the man at the crossroads

God bless the woman who still can't sleep

God bless the history that doesn't repeat