Strong Enough David Ryan Harris

Transcribed by Chris Rittelmeyer

NOTE: This is not the version from The Bittersweet album. I m not sure what LP or EP this version is from, but I think it s better than The Bittersweet version.

does it in Drop D, but I do this in standard tuning. It s up to you!

Dm C F

I would have given my world to see

C F C

You deliver the jailer s key

Bb F

I d give you the credit

C

And take what went wrong

Dm C F

I would have given most anything

C F C

To see your lips move but hear me singing

Bb F

If you had opened your mouth

C

And spit out my song

Dm C F

Lover you re forgiven

F C F

You have suffered for long enough

They re holding their breath

F Bb

And I m calling their bluff

F C F

Our love is strong enough

F C Dm C F

Our love is strong enough

Dm C F

If there were ever a movie made

C F C

That outlines my life in some honest way

Line for line note for note and page by page
Dm
I d hope that who ever played your part
                                              С
Would feel my remorseful and heavy heart
                                                                       C
Вb
They would open their mouth and unyieldingly say
Dm
Lover you re forgiven
You have suffered for long enough
They re holding their breath
                               Вb
              F
And I m calling their bluff
Our love is strong enough
                                     C
                             Dm
Our love is strong enough
Am
Instead you held the key over my head
And just out of reach
Till any love that used to be
Got wasted on the need for me
To feel as though I could be free
                                                 C
Cause I m not your asshole I m not your thief
I thank the lord that I finally was released
Am
      G
Lover you re forgiven
                                           C
We ve both suffered for long enough
They all held their breath
But we couldn t call their bluff
                                                 C
 Cause our love wasn t strong enough
Our love wasn t strong enough
Our love wasn t strong enough
