

The Dream Club Murders
Dead Poetic

Whats up everyone, this song is freak-en elite, I hope I do it some justice.
Its tuning is a half-stepdown, not positive on that, but it makes it a little easier to sing.

First tab ever by Jacob Thompson

Bm                      A2                                      Em
So after all, you needed more than a death-threat fall.
G                                      Bm
You needed more, and I let you fall.
A2                                      Em
Into the coffin with your floor-dropped jaw.
G                                      Bm                                      A
And I remember your aspiration, your dream to fit in.
Em
But it s gone, and they re here.
G    - - Em    Em - - Em Em - -
So let s kill these felons now.

D                                      A                                      Em
   G
But I remember you, you ll go, you ll find a way back home.
D                                      A
But I remember you, when you stand there,
Em    G
You stand with your eyes closed.

Bm                                      A
And I feel, tonight, that I let you die.
Em    G
But you could have lived forever, it took smiles to keep you alive.
Bm                                      A
But heroes die, and so did mine.
Em    G
But you go, and I stay, will it keep you at peace now.

D                                      A                                      Em
   G
But I remember you, you ll go, you ll find a way back home.
D                                      A
But I remember you, when you stand there,
Em    G
You stand with your eyes closed.

Bm                                      A
And I ll dig you out, and I ll sit you up.
Em    G
For the fools to find you, the fools breathe into you.    2x

So sleep child no one can touch you now.
