Calling Old Friends by Defiance Ohio

No one had done a regular version of this song so I decided to figure it out myself because it s a relatively simple song. During the whole song the F G and Am are actually F5 G5 and A5 so you play them as power chords.

Intro:

B F# E
Calling old friends to make sure they re real, talking, talking just to feel that sense of home you lost when you left last year.

B F# E
Distance is just numbers on a dashboard, hours thinking about nothing but the transmission stutter you fear.
B F# E

E F# G#m
I remember what you whispered in my ear,
E F# B F# E
and all the things we tried so hard to never have to hear,
E F# G#m
like kids tighten up, start saving for the golden year.

E F# B F# E
Well, hey, that picture it fades day by day and the outcome s not so clear.

B F# E
Don t think I ll see you around this winter, and my tongue s stuck full of splinters;

B F# E
I m embarrassed to admit what I ve been thinking.
B F# E
Hope keeps some afloat, but for me it s no life boat.

B F# E
The tighter I hold on the deeper down I m sinking.

E F# G#m
Tried to put my finger on it but gave it my whole arm.
E F# B F# E
Reached out with good intention, but it only did more harm.
E F# G#m
Find ourselves alone since the day we re born,

E F# B F# E

so we seek someone to sew sutures in the places where we re torn.
