Flood Waters by Defiance, Ohio

Here s another great song by Defiance, Ohio off their album Midwestern Minutes. It s a pretty easy song so I decided to tab it out since no one else had done so yet.

E F#m A
E F#m A

E F#m A
I was wading through the flood waters

E F#m A
You were waiting out a drought.

E F#m A
Do I have that kind of love? Is that what it would take to see this out?

E F#m A

E F#m A
Hold your empty disemboweled gas tanks up high.

E F#m A
Turn them into a bong or a still

E F#m A
Rooting through the gas stations, tilling up our backyards

E F#m A Am
That s my rosy picture of the end times, my friend.

E Am
E Am
E Am
E Am

E F#m A
Bodies crumble about as fast as a house in the sub,

E F#m A
and what you leave behind

E F#m A
is an un-corporeal monument of time

E F#m A Am
whether by needle, your own hands, war, an empty belly, bus, or bug

E Am E Am E
We all go seperate and together. As such, while I m alive, show me love! Show
Am E Am
me love! Show me love! Show me love

And end on E
