The Cheap And Easy Approach

I ve seen the Paris DVD and yes, it does seem Mart plays with a guitar in flat tuning. But isn t it a pain in the ass to do flat tuning? I sure think so! So I came up with the Cheap And Easy Approach... not only easier to tune, but easy to play too! Here goes:

Tuning: Drop D

Capo 1 (tab relative to the capo)

Main Riff:

```
e|-----
B|-----
G|-----
D|-----3-0---0---0-
A|---0-----3-----
D|-0-----3-0-
```

Alternate Riff

```
e|-----
B|-----
G|-----
D|-----5-----5-----5-----5---
A|---5-----5---5---5-----5---5-
D|-5-----5-----8-----8-----
```

or, if you re amazingly cheap, you can do this:

```
e|-----
B|-----
D|---0-----0---0---0-----0---0-
A|-----
D|-5-----5-----8-----8-----
```

And so the bridge part would go like this:

```
e|-----
B|-----
G|-----
D|-----0-3-
A|---0-3-----
D|-5-----
```

Isn t that easy?

Here s the format:

On each line of the verse play this:
Main Riff x 3 + Alternate Riff

On the chorus, play this twice:
Alternate Riff + Main Riff x 2

Bridge: Listen to it, there s alot of those.
For the 2nd guitar in the bridge, who knows? Play with a slide on the first two strings is my advice.

To end, I suggest alternating the main riff like this:

```
e|-----
B|-----
G|-----
D|-----3-0---0-3-0-
A|---0-----3-----
```

Go forth, you lazy ones, and play!

Tell me how big a moron I am at *
