Progression 1:

(Intro)

There s a dirty sock in my hair
And I don t remember putting it there
Next to sweat silhouettes on the floor
That I m not quite prepared to endorse

Progression 2:

I was having this dream
We were down in a deep ravine
With slimy slippery sides

Progression 1:

No, I won t sit still till I m upside down
In the back of your eyes

Progression 3:

We can take off into the breeze
Through the forest of family trees
And be a mutual sight for sore eyes
We can ride off into the sunrise
And wake up in the after-

Progression 4:

-noon

Back on the birthplace of the moon
Till we re off to the too and fro

For some old man that we don't even know... (Hold C)

G:

Only eight more hours to go

Progression 1:

Oh, the world feels colder today
I don't care what the scientists say
There's a campfire built in my heart
That even the sun couldn't start

Progression 2:

On our climb uphill
Into the oil spill
Through the vast asbestos skies

Progression 1:

No, I won't sit still till I'm upside down
In the back of your eyes

Progression 3:

Nevermind all the nuclear missiles
Leave that up to important officials
Who can manufacture the press and Keep the peasants on anti-depressants
Should they send their rockets a flyin'
That's one unique way to exit the

Progression 4:

world
And if we're curled up into a little ball
Behind some thick lead walls
We should be fine if we can survive (Hold C)

G:

The giant spiders!!!

Progression 1:

No, I won't sit still till I'm upside down
In the back of your eyes
No, I won't sit still till I'm upside down
In the back of your eyes
No, I won't sit still till I'm upside down
In the back of your eyes
No, I won't sit still till I'm upside down

In the back of your eyes
