VERSE:

C F C F
From the Bowery to Brighton you ve all heard my call

C F A G
I ve got two pierced nipples and a ring through my balls

C F C F
My name is Slackerman, superhero for the masses

C F A G
I m trying to rid society from the rich upper classes

F D E C
I ve got sideburns like Elvis and a shaggy goatee

F G C F C F
I was born in seventy-three

VERSE 2:

C F C F
Most superheros fly high, but me, I d rather skate

C F A G
Both parents are lawyers, divorced when I was eight

C F C F
My wallets got a chain and superpowers to boot

C F A G
I ll lasso you like a cowboy then I ll die your hair blue

F D E C
I m studying psych at the local JC

F G C F C F
cuz I don t really know what to be

Play INTRO again

VERSE 3:

C F C F
My partner in slackdom is a chick named Danielle

C F A G
I met her at the drive thru of a taco bell

C F C F
She drives her mom s green Volvo, bag of tricks on her back

C F A G
She wears her hair short, wears her Doc Martens black

F D E C
With her Maybelline lips and her Catholic school skirt

F G C F C F
She ll leave bankers with nothing but dirt

VERSE 4:

C F C F
Its a thankless job being a hero and all

C F A G
But I ve gotta do it or GenX will fall

C F C F
Yuppies and Boomers get outta my way

C F A G
Cuz I m taking over and I start today

F D E C
I ve got sideburns like Elvis and a shaggy goatee

F G C
I was born in seventy-three

F D E C

I m studying psych at the local JC

F G C
cuz I don t really know what to be

F D E C
I am the twenty-something hero of the world

F G C
and I am here for your mocha  end on C ***
