

Love Song 58
Dime Store Prophets

```
-----
| Love Song #58                                     |
| by: Dime Store Prophets                           |
| CD: Love Is Against The Grain                     |
| from: exarkun@interserv.com (Brian Kurtyka)      |
-----
```

INTRO: G D C (x2)

VERSE 1:

```
G   D           C
Baby, you always knew how to stand up straight.
G   D           C
Honey, I gave to you and you gave it all away.
G   D           C
Oh me, could you sing for me tonight.
G D           C
I don t care what they say
           G           D
I ll just fill my lungs
           C
to get it out so sing I...
```

CHORUS:

```
           G           D           G           D
When we kissed in the sky we could hold the world by the wings
           C           D           G
when we sing on the breath of the wind.
```

D C

VERSE 2:

```
G   D           C
Sister, could you be a crutch tonight.
G   D           C
Giver, my words are clay but in you they mean so much.
G   D           C
Hold me, hold me up in bitter times.
G           D   C
All I see are lights ahead,
           G           D           C
is this fear I hold, I can see your smile, your teenage smile.
```

CHORUS (x2)

BRIDGE:

```
A           C   A           C   A
```

Don t let me down, don t let me alone tonight.

G D C

VERSE 3:

G D C

Mother, when I m scared I can cling to your knee.

G D C

Lover, I ll hold your neck and try to say something sweet.

G D C

Someday I ll be strong enought to say,

G D C G D

I once needed to be loved, but when you stand by,

C

I can stand alone, I stand alone.

CHORUS (x2)

D C (Till End; End On C)