          C#m      G#m          C#m                  G#m
Light a candle          lay flowers at the door
          C#m                  G#m          C#m                  G#m
for those you left behind and the one s who ve gone before.
          C#m          G#m          C#m                  G#m
Here it comes now          sure as silence follows rain
          C#m          G#m                  C#m          G#m
the taste of you upon my lips the fingers in my brain.
          C#m      G#m          C#m                  G#m
And be gentle          as it kills me where I lay
C#m          G#m      C#m                  G#m
Who am I to resist? Who are you to fail?

(refrão)
C#m                                  B
Got to get you out of my mind
          G#m                                  F#
but I can t escape from the feeling.
          C#m                                  B
As I try to leave the memory behind
          G#m                                  F#
without you what s left to believe in.

C#m G#m (8x)

It could be so sorry          for the way it had to go but now I feel your presense in a way I could not know.
And I wonder          do you ever feel the same in whispering darkness do you ever hear my name?
