My Love Elmariachino

My Love by George Assaf

Please say you love me or I will die.

C I love you, more than the stars shining in the sky

G C

I love you, until the seas and oceans become dry.

F G

I love you more than God, more than mom and more than me

F G C

I love you saying ours and I love you saying we.

F G

I love you till I laugh and I love you till I cry,

I need you like a tired flying bird needs a branch, I need you to take care of my heart and make it stanch. I need you days and nights all along the week, I need you by my side when I feel week. I need part of your heart; yes I need a tranche, Say that you need me so I won't blanch.

I want you; I want your woman's love and your care
I want you, you're my very precious, you're my rare.
I want you just for me, for myself and for my own.
I want you when you're silent and I want you when you moan.
I want your female body, I want your face, I want your hair,
If you don't want me back, it won't be fair.
