Your Arms,

Em C Am

Are reaching to hold me now,

With us both, bitter and, sorry

Will be easier to say,

tonight before the daylight breaks,

Dm Am Dm

Α

Then I d be tempted to lie, and pretend everything is right

F G C

When you re, not right, for me.

C

You re right,

Em

in every possible way

F Em A

So I d fight, every urge I have to say

F Em (C) Am

What my heart, is telling me now to do,

F Am G

Cause we d both be bitter and sorry,

F Em A F

Goodbye, will be easier to say, tonight

Em P

Before the daylight breaks,

Dm Am Dm A

Then I d be tempted to lie, and pretend everything is right

F C (

When you re, not right, for me.

End...

This is the first song that I have added chords to and although most of it sounds right, I am aware that some of it might be slightly out but I still enjoyed playing this song and I hope that you do too. I play a basic finger pick and it sounds ok.
