Am Am/B F C
You are watching a programme for exactly an hour
G
All of these hours they will add up to a day
Am F
You will sit there till they re done now there are 24 to play
C G
And there are rims around your eyeballs by the 7th or the 8th
F G Am
But if you go to sleep tonight you will be older when you wake
F G
And you say one man is the parachute and the other is the knife that cuts
Am
the brakes

Am Am/B F
First we were born then we ran slowly out of luck
C G
You are still not Charles Bukowski and i am not Diane Cluck
Am F
And i would suck the life from you if there was any left to suck
C G
And i would love you if you told me there was something there to love
F
I would marry you for money
G
I would marry you for money
C G Am
I would marry you for money if it stuck
F G Am
I would marry you for money but i don t suppose you ll ever have enough

Am Am/B F
Man on the screen he has done more in a minute
C G
Than you have achieved in your whole entire life
Am F
When you finally realise i was the best thing you had init
C G
We ll be closing up your eyelids on the bed on which you die
F

And i ll be sorry if it happens to you

G

Sorry if it happens to you

C G Am

Sorry if it happens to you but

F

G

They say one life is the cancer and another is the blade that

Am

makes the cut

C F C

24 for every year that we have slipped

Am G

Day by day into the neck of the abyss

C

C

And i am 24 today i don t believe i ll sit

Am

G

Through another year of this while you are sewing up your lips

F

And i ll be sorry that you happened to me

G

Sorry that you happened to me

C G Am

Sorry that you happened to me but

F

G

They say that one man is the accident the other is the hand that stops the blood

And i am looking for the other one, for the hand to stop the blood
