

Cassandra

Emmy the Great

A D

Cassandra, keep it down

A D

I don t think they can hear you now

A D

Don t think they heard you first time round

A D

No they can t hear you, no Cassandra,

A D

Cassandra, it won t make sense

A E

not if you think and think again

A D

But still they do say, life is forgiving

A E

and ends up partnered with beginnings

A D F#m E

A D

And daily, you saw it come

A E

and you gave warning, but couldn t run

A D

and so you watched until it was broken

A E

and knew the foresight delays no motion

A D

I know it s awful, I know it s bruising,

F#m E

I know you can t see past the conclusion

A D

but still the world turns upon its axis

F#m E

and we make circles so we can match it

A D

F#m E

And read our lines though we ve had no practice

A D F#m E

A D

Cassandra, keep it down

A D

I don't think they can hear you now

A D

Don't think they heard you first time round

A D

No they can't hear you, there's no answer

A D

And maybe there's something great

F#m E

that gives us meaning, if we wait

A D

but still I'm human, I'm broken-hearted

A D

I see your sundress and your sunglasses

A D

I hear your question, and how you ask it

F#m E

What use is love if it always passes?

A D

F#m E

What use is love if it always passes?

A D F#m E

A D

And though they do say, Life is forgiving,

F#m E

what use is life to those who aren't living?

A D

And though they do say, Life is forgiving,

F#m E A

what use is life to those who aren't living?
