

Memory

Epica

G

Midnight

Em

Not a sound from the pavement

C

Has the moon lost her memory?

Bm

She is smiling alone

Am

In the lamplight

Em

The withered leaves collect at my feet

D

G

And the wind begins to moan

G

Memory

Em

All alone in the moonlight

C

I can smile at your old days

Bm

Life was beautiful then

Am

Em

I remember the time I knew what happiness is

D

G

Let the memory live again

Em Am Em Am

Every street lamp seems to beat

Em C D

A fatalistic warning

G Em D Em

Someone mutters and the street lamp gutters

Em A D

And soon it will be morning

C

Daylight

Am

I must wait for the sunrise

F

I must think of a new life

Em

And I mustn't give in

Dm

When the dawn comes

Am

Tonight will be a memory too

C

And a new day will begin

Em Am Em Am

Burnt out ends of smoky days

Em C D

The still cold smell of morning

Em A

A street lamp dies, another night is over

G D A

Another day is dawning

D

Touch me,

Em

It is so easy to leave me

G

All alone with the memory

D

Of my days in the sun

Em

If you touch me,

Em

You'll understand what happiness is

D

Look, a new day has begun...
