

Needs His Woman
Eric Clapton

verse 1:

A                    D                    E            C#m    F#m
You left him standing in the pouring rain.
                         Bm    D            E            A
There s every chance he ll go insane.
A                    D                    E            C#m    F#m
And someone comes along and takes his hand.
                         Bm    D            E                                    A
He must have love, can t you understand that...

A                    D
He needs his woman,
G                    E
He needs his woman,
A                    D
And he needs his woman,
G                                    D    A
He needs his woman to love.

verse 2:

A                    D                    E            C#m    F#m
His hands are shaking and his head hangs down.
                         Bm    D            E            A
No peace of mind for him is found.
A                    D                    C#m    f#m
Break his heart and then you ll set him free.
Bm                    D                    E
Someone must save him, just you wait and see, but...

A                    D
He needs his woman,
G                    E
He needs his woman,
A                    D
And he needs his woman,
G                                    D    A
He needs his woman to love.

Bridge:

G                    F#m                    Bm                    A
What will it take till you believe his love is real?
G                    F#m                    Bm                    E
Nobody said he had to love you, now he always will.

verse 3:

A                    D                    E                    C#m                    F#m
He ll walk that lonely road again today.
Bm                    E                    A
The love he gave you, you threw away.
A                    D                    E                    C#m                    F#m
When all he wanted was a hand to hold.
Bm                    E                    A
His lonely world has grown so cold and...

A                    D
He needs his woman,
G                    E
He needs his woman,
A                    D
And he needs his woman,
G                    D                    A
He needs his woman to love.
