D
you and j s been sitting by the roadside
     G
for far too long, in this little town
D
seems your plan of leaving left you both behind
       G
your wings are strong, you re still on the ground
D seconds, Hours, minutes they all pass you by G
above your heads, still an empty sky
D shining shoes or working mines, is not your favourite waste of time
      G
and never what you had in mind

                  D gonna have to move on C9
or else your life will be gone
                         G/B don t set your level too high
                             D
just lower the line of the sky
                  D gonna have to move on C9
or else your life will be gone

```
                        G/B don t set your level too high
                                    D
just lower the line of the sky

Fig1 x1

D
you missed the bus that never had a stop in your town
          G
seems it let you down, never came around
D
no one you knew ever left this place alive
        G
became husbands and wives, no matter how they strived
D seconds, hours, minutes they all pass you by G
and above your heads, still an empty sky
 D shining shoes or working mines, is not your favourite waste of time
      G
and never what you had in mind

                      D gonna have to move on C9
or else your life will be gone
                          G/B don t set your level too high
                                D
just lower the line of the sky
                    D gonna have to move on C9
or else your life will be gone
                          G/B don t set your level too high
                              D
just lower the line of the sky
