

Girl From The Renaissance Faire
Ethan Lipton & His Orchestra

Alright, sports fans.

This version of the song just has 3 basic major chords. In the actual song, from what I anyway, there s single notes being played, but this sounds better if you re playing alone.

G C G
I know that it matters.. but that mean doesnâ€™t mean you should care

D G
I left my wife and only child for a girl at the Renaissance Faire

C G
Her name was Rowena: she came from Camelot

She spoke with the darlingest English accent...

G
or at least thatâ€™s what I thought

C
Chorus: Her bosoms were heaving..

G
her hair smelled like steak...

D G
she poured me beer from her lips and I drank and I drank

G C G
Well, I quit selling software; bought an RV

D
Picked up some cashews for Rowena

G
I drove us from sea to shining sea

C
she did the Ren Faire in Phoenix

G
she did the Ren Faire in joliet

D
she did the Ren Faire in Fredricksburg

G
Fredricksburg isnâ€™t over her yet

C
Chorus: Her bosoms were heaving..

G
her hair smelled like steak...

D G
she poured me beer from her lips and I drank and I drank

G C
Some nights she got cranky

G

some nights she got mean

some nights she got busy behind the snow cone machine.

But I always forgave her when she came home and cried.

No, I never felt down on my luck when I woke up with Rowena by my side.

Chorus: Her bosoms were heaving..

her hair smelled like steak...

she poured me beer from her lips and I drank and I drank

one day she went jousting out in west Tennessee

she took a lance to the helmet shattered most of her teeth

she lost an eye in a bar fight lost her leg to gangrene

ah but you know Rowena my love still the darlinest thing

Chorus: Her bosoms were heaving..

her hair smelled like steak...

she poured me beer from her lips and I drank and I drank

and it was raining in Downey when I asked her to wed she said

“what are you crazy?” and she hopped out of bed

she knocked over the table and she hopped to the door

she said “I don’t sign contracts” and left my life forevermore

Chorus: Her bosoms were heaving..

she poured me beer from her lips and I drank and I drank

Now I’m heading for the desert gonna burn this RV

tell your mommy that I’d loved her and stay away from men like me

I would tell you I was following my heart

G

and Iâ€™d do anything to make you care

D

G

but I gave up everything I had for a girl at the renaissance faire

--and Iâ€™d do it again!

C

Chorus: Her bosoms were heaving..

G

her hair smelled like steak...

D

G

she poured me beer from her lips and I drank and I drank

D

G

she poured me beeeEEEr...

*end of song*

So yeah. Good luck with that!
