This whole song follows the pattern displayed in the first verse. While I m not a fan of most of the album I love this song. Very emotional. I went ahead and wrote out all the lyrics since no site has had them up yet.

A

As I m thrown into an empty room or should I say a box

I try to turn around to leave but the door is slammed and locked

F#

so I sit there and I think about all the evil things I ve done

D#

F#

I lost where I was going cause I forgot where I came from

I surrender

Put my weapons down

I can t remember

what I m doing in this town

It s time for me to pack my bags

I will always be alone

The only thing I ve ever known is out there on the road

I m a drifter

I m a drifter

Now every time I look straight into my father s eyes

I see how hurt and broken down he is from all the times

He had to watch the son he raised follow in his steps

The only option that he ever had was to hope for the best

I surrender

Put my weapons down

I can t remember

what I m doing in this town

It s time for me to pack my bags

I will always be alone

The only thing I ve ever known is out there on the road

My faith is weak my soul is bound this lonely road I travel down
I scrap my feet this jagged ground the cuts run deep into me now mother oh why aren't you here
So young I was you disappeared
I know the truth is ugly did you ever truly love me?

I surrender
Curse my mother's soul
I still miss her
No matter where I go
It's time for me to pack my bags
I will always be alone
The only thing I've ever known is a broken home
