Intro: G#m   E   F#   G#m

      G#m
Seems I just can t do enough
      E
I could never win your love
         B
Why should I try
             F#
When you never share your feelings?
     G#m
How could I be so naïve?
   E
Is it so hard to believe
     B   Ebm
That you excel in emotional concealing?
 C#m
No matter what I do
     G#m
I never measure up for you
E   F#   G#m
But you just keep that smile on your face
    C#m
No matter how much I try
     G#m
You re never really satisfied
E   F#
 Until you run away and hide

     G#m
In your perfect world
        E
Where there s no one to blame
     F#
No one can hurt your feelings
      G#m
And you don t feel no pain

Everybody loves you
    E
And nobody gets burned
    F#
As long as you are living
    G#m
In your perfect world

    G#m

It seems like everyone gets screened
```
```
On your answering machine
```
```
Can t take the call
```
                        F#
```
And let down your defenses
```
              G#m
```
You can t let anybody see
```
            E
```
Your real personality
```
        B                               Ebm
```
Is it pride, or just your false pretenses?
```
        C#m
```
Maybe a part of you has died
```
              G#m
```
Because you keep it all inside
```
      E                     F#                G#m
```
But still you wear that smile on your face
```
              C#m
```
It seems no matter what I do
```
        G#m
```
I just can t get through to you
```
    E                               F#
```
But I always know where to find you

```
              G#m
```
In your perfect world
```
                        E
```
Where nothing can go wrong
```
                    F#
```
You re always in control
```
                  G#m
```
And we all get along

And everything is beautiful
```
```
No need for concern
```
                  F#
```
As long as you are living
```
                  G#m
```
In your perfect world

(Solo)

```
        C#m
```
Maybe a part of you has died
```
            G#m
```
Because you keep it all inside
```
      E                     F#                G#m
```
Is it hard to keep that smile on you face
```
            C#m
```
It seems no matter what I do

```
        G#m
I just can t get through to you
 E                              F#
But I always know where to find you

                  G#m
In your perfect world
                        E
Where there s no one to blame
                    F#
No one can hurt your feelings
                    G#m
And you don t feel no pain

Everybody loves you
                E
And nobody gets burned
                    F#
As long as you are living
              G#m
In your perfect world
                    E
Where nothing can go wrong
                    F#
You re always in control
              G#m
And we all get along

And everything is beautiful
                E
No need for concern
                  F#
As long as you are living
